Will Stand

THE ensuing season at the following rate, to wit: one dollar per week, on Mondays and Thursdays at the stable of ELIZABETH BARKER, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturdays, in Tracelwood; on Wednesdays at Safford's tavern in New Bedford; on Thursdays at James Walker's, in Millboro; and on Fridays at the stable of Mrs. S. HERMONIAN.

He is a dark bay, ten years old, this spring—fifteen hands and three inches high; and his appearance cannot fail to please those who wish to breed such a class of horses. He was imported in the year 1808, by Wm. Jones, of Virginia, for the purpose of improving his own stock; and his colts have proved to be some of the best horses in that country. Hermonian was the sire of the famous Old Seal, and his dam was bred by Janus; which blood is as good as any to be found on the English Calendar. His stock is warranted large and fine.
