“Bargaining for Motherhood:
Postadoption Visitation
Agreements”

Carol Sanger

*Barbara Aronstein Black Professor of Law,
Columbia Law School*

Introduction by

John DeWitt Gregory

*Sidney and Walter Siben Distinguished
Professor of Family Law*

The Sidney and Walter Siben Distinguished Professorship Lecture in Family Law was established in 1984 and is supported by a gift from the firm of Siben & Siben LLP, in Bay Shore, N.Y. Its purpose is to promote scholarly research, conferences and publications in the field of family law.

Carol Sanger

Carol Sanger is the Barbara Aronstein Black Professor of Law at Columbia Law School. She received a B.A. in history from Wellesley College in 1970 and a J.D. from University of Michigan Law School in 1976. She practiced law in San Francisco for three years, specializing in commercial litigation. She joined the Columbia faculty in 1996, having taught at Oregon and Santa Clara law schools. In addition to her position at Columbia, Sanger is also a long-term visiting professor on the Faculty of Law at Oxford University and a senior research fellow at St. Anne's College, Oxford.

Sanger teaches in the areas of contracts and family law. She is now the senior editor of the Farnsworth, Young, Sanger, Cohen and Brooks Contracts: Cases and Materials, the leading contracts casebook, and the editor of Family Law Stories.

Sanger's scholarship has long focused on how legal rules influence family formation, particularly with regard to mothers and children. She has explored this topic in the areas of custody, emancipation, immigration and surrogacy. She is interested in the use of contract to create families through exchange and has pursued the creeping merger between contracts and family law in "Developing Markets in Baby-Making," 30 Harvard Journal of Law & Gender (2007), and in the subject of today's lecture, postadoption visitation agreements.

Her most recent work is in the area of abortion regulation, and she is completing the book About Abortion (Harvard University Press, 2014). She has won the highest teaching prizes from both Columbia University and Columbia Law School and, in April 2012, was the 32nd Marks Lecturer at the University of Arizona.
