Dear Professor Freedman:

I trust you arrived safely back in New York. Had you been able to stay longer at the meeting on Professional Ethics there would have been many more questions for you. Some of the members of the audience voiced regret that you had to leave early. It was obvious then that your remarks aroused much interest and we are grateful that you were available from a busy schedule to contribute to the success of the program.

It is always good for us to have an exchange with practitioners in other fields since we are often the intermediaries in the dissemination of information from so many fields of interest and often meet a variety of readers in our work.

We have tapes of the program now and they will form part of an interesting file in the history of this Committee's work in the formation of a code of ethics for librarians.

Many thanks for your contribution.

Cordially,

Barbara Rollock
