Case law from every jurisdiction -- two million summaries -- available at electronic speed.

We call it Westlaw. You will call it amazing. Ready for instant computer retrieval are more than two million lawyer-prepared case summaries—any one of which can be flashed on the cathode ray tube in front of you in seconds.

Westlaw has the broadest case law data base of any computer retrieval system designed for legal research. It summarizes and classifies points of law from all reported opinions of federal courts from 1961. And of all state appellate courts from 1967.

No special skills are needed to effectively operate the Westlaw system. Anyone can learn to use it with a couple hours of instruction.

An on-site printer quickly gives you a permanent, portable record—on paper—of anything on the screen with a push of a button.

The Westlaw system is available NOW. Ready to be installed in your office. Get all the details by writing to:
