COMMENT

DEDICATED TO
JUSTICE POTTER STEWART
The established American press in the past ten years . . . has performed precisely the function it was intended to perform by those who wrote the First Amendment of our Constitution . . .

. . . . So far as the Constitution goes, the autonomous press may publish what it knows, and may seek to learn what it can.

Justice Potter Stewart

It has been twenty-one years since he was appointed to the Supreme Court, five years since the Yale speech. In that time Justice Potter Stewart has repeatedly enlivened the debate over the meaning of the press clause of the first amendment. In recognition of this continuing inquiry, the Hofstra Law Review dedicates to him this Symposium on the Press Clause.
