Imagine printing a Law Review without electricity.

When Darby Printing Company was founded in 1872, electricity was not widely available and books were slowly printed on hand-cranked presses under inadequate lighting.

Now, we take electricity for granted, high-speed presses seem to run themselves and Darby Printing Company has grown to be one of the leading printers of Law Reviews in the country.

To earn that distinction, we made a serious commitment to provide the type of services Law Review Staffs need and appreciate during the publishing process. Disk conversion, same-day service, desk-top publishing, 24-hour telecommunications, mail list upkeep and subscription fulfillment are just a few of the beneficial services we offer.

To obtain more information about how our long term commitment to service can make publishing your Law Review easier, call today.

If you can't call today, call tomorrow.

We'll still be here.
Career Move.

No doubt you plan to start a successful legal career soon, so here's a tip:

Start reading Law Week now. While you're still in law school.

Why? Because top attorneys nationwide read Law Week every week, and as you know, it's never a bad idea to follow in the footsteps of the best. But more importantly—

Law Week gives you complete coverage of today's most important cases, with immediate notification of precedent-setting court decisions in every legal field, plus unparalleled Supreme Court reporting.

Indeed, Law Week puts you on the cutting edge of American law.

What better way to start a successful legal career.

Make your move now. Ask your professor for details on Law Week's low student rates today.
